

Hiking Trails of Estes Park, Colorado

Deer Mountain Loop

Gem Lake Trail

Lawn Lake Trail

Located in northern Colorado at the eastern entrance to Rocky Mountain National Park, Estes Park lies in Larimer County, approximately 70 miles northwest of Denver. Sitting at an elevation of 7,500 feet the town sits within a mountain valley surrounded by Colorado's Front Range.

Estes Park features a diverse range of hiking trails suited for outdoor enthusiasts of all levels. From peaceful woodland paths to strenuous climbs with remarkable vistas, these trails provide a deep connection to nature and the breathtaking Rocky Mountain landscape.

This map highlights several of the regions iconic trails, including:

Deer Mountain Loop: A challenging hike that rewards hikers with panoramic views of the surrounding mountainscape.

Gem Lake: A popular trail among visitors, this moderate route showcases dramatic granite formations and a serene alpine lake. It can be enjoyed as a standalone hike or as part of a larger trail system.

Lawn Lake: Perfect for experienced hikers, this trail ventures into the high country with significant elevation changes and access to remote wilderness areas. Along the way, it offers remarkable views of Longs Peak and the rugged Rocky Mountain terrain.